Tutoring Experience

For the past five years, I've been dedicated to helping students achieve excellence in IB Psychology. I work closely with them to ensure they understand core psychological theories and can effectively apply their knowledge in exams. My support extends beyond tutoring; I assist students with essay structuring and exam strategies, essential for scoring well in IB.

In addition to IB, I also have experience teaching A-Level and IGCSE Psychology, Economics, and Maths. My familiarity with these curriculums allows me to guide students in understanding the unique requirements of each, ensuring they excel academically.

My goal is to provide students with the tools to approach complex material confidently and critically. By integrating exam-focused methods and curriculum insights, I've seen students significantly improve in their understanding and performance.
